4 Canada Scientists, Solon Held

OTTAWA, March 15 (AP)—A member of Canada's paliament and four government scientific workers were accused today of transmitting secret data to Russia, including details of a super-explosive known as "RDX."

Fred Rose, only Communist ever elected to the Canadian Commons, was charged formally today after his arrest following a meeting of Parliament yesterday.

Fred Rose Dr. R. Boyer

Dr. David Shugar Matt Simons Nightingale

The arrest warrant declared that Rose, who worked in the Soviet Union for six months addressing youth rallies, "did unlawfully for purposes prejudicial to the safety and interest of Canada, obtain, collect, record, publish and communicate to other persons sketches, plans, models, articles, notes and other documents and information which were calculated to be and intended to be directly and indirectly useful to a foreign power, to wit, the Union of the Soviet Socialist Republics."

The Royal Commission said Dr. Raymond Boyer, assistant professor of chemistry at McGill University, admitted giving Russia full information about his work with "RDX." Boyer was mentioned in the arrest warrant for Rose as a person with whom Rose conspired.

"He (Dr. Boyer) said that with this information, competent persons would be in a position to design a plant to produce the material in quantity," the commission said.

Boyer was accused of transmitting his secrets early in 1942 and into 1944, while Russia and Canada were allied in the death struggle against Germany.

The four persons previously accused were minor governmental workers, who were charged with working with the Moscow-directed espionage ring to obtain data on the atomic bomb, radar, electronics and the disposition of numerous United States corps and divisions which lately had fought the Germans. Five persons, other than those already named, still are under investigation.

"Some witnesses holding strategic positions have made the significant statement, under oath, that they had a loyalty which took

Britain Offers India Freedom

LONDON, March 15 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee told Commons today if India chooses full independence from Britain "in our view she has the right to do so."

"It will be for us to make the transition as free and easy as possible," he declared during debate on the mission of three cabinet members to India shortly to take up again the problem of self-government in India.

But, he said, "I hope the Indian people may elect to remain within the British commonwealth.

"If she does so elect," he added, "it must be by her own free will, for the British commonwealth and empire is not bound together by chains of external compulsion."

Attlee said that Britain, in making a final treaty with India, was not "going to hold out anything to our own advantage that would be to the disadvantage of India." He said he thought India would "find great advantages" within the commonwealth and warned "no great nation can stand alone today."

Attlee said the cabinet mission was going to India "in a positive mood." Members who compose the mission are Lord Pethick-Lawrence, secretary of state for India; Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the Board of Trade, and A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty.

They will leave Tuesday and are due in India March 23.

Iran Ready To Fight Russians

BULLETIN

LONDON, March 15 (INS)—A Reuter's dispatch from Tehran said today four heavily-loaded Russian military trains have arrived in Karaj, 23 miles northwest of the Iranian capital, in the past eight days. Residents of Karaj were quoted as saying the trains contained 22 cars each and carried Sherman tanks, field guns, ammunition, supplies and tank and gun crews.

TEHRAN, March 14 (delayed) (AP)—Gen. Ahmed Sepehbod Amir Ahmedi, minister of war, said today the Iranian army was "ready to fight to the last man" if Russian troops move toward Tehran from Karaj, 20 miles northwest of here, where he said trainloads of troops and ammunition are arriving nightly. "Iran has shown to the world it is a peaceful nation, but if Russia commits an overt act, not only every soldier but every boy and girl in the streets will fight to defend their capital," the general said in an interview immediately following an audience with Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, Shah of Iran.

The Shah, he said, plans to present the Iranian question again to the United Nations Security Council in New York city later this month.

Ahmedi said the Russian garrison at Karaj had been increased fourfold and that there were "three times as many Russians in Azerbaijan as a month ago."

He termed the reported concentration of troops and equipment a "definite threat to Tehran" and added that all necessary precautions were being taken to meet it.

N. Y. Jails 20 As Reds Booh, Hiss Churchill

NEW YORK, March 15—Hissing and booing Communists, waving placards and passing out handbills, scuffled with police in front of City Hall today as Winston Churchill, former British prime minister, arrived for an official reception.

Police estimated 1000 of the 3000 in the rain-soaked crowd in City Hall plaza were Communists and said 20 had been arrested on disorderly conduct charges after the scuffle precipitated by police efforts to subdue the demonstration.

As Churchill, seated in an open car and smoking his usual cigar, drew up in front of City Hall after riding up rain-swept lower Broadway, huge placards were lifted over the heads of the throng.

"No American Shall Die for Churchill! No World War III!" one proclaimed.

"Churchill Wants Your Son!" read another.

"We want peace, Churchill wants war!" many shouted repeatedly from the crowd packed in front of City Hall.

Loud booing began as soon as Churchill's car arrived and continued for several minutes after he had entered City Hall, where he spoke before some 600 persons during the official civic reception.

Police attempted to quiet the demonstration and almost immediately sporadic scuffles started with a score of the demonstrators finally being collared and held in a subway kiosk to await the arrival of police patrol wagons.

En route to City Hall, the Churchill 10-car procession passed through Union sq. and one man spat on the ground as the former prime minister's car passed.

The British leader also was booed at other points along the route, although he was cheered in some sections.

All along the route handbills bearing the names of the New York State committee, Communist party, and the National Council for American-Soviet Friendship were passed among the crowds.

"Do you want another war?" and "Churchill wants you son!" they read.

Churchill paid no attention to the demonstration as he entered City Hall to receive the city's gold medal and distinguished service certificate from Mayor William O'Dwyer and to address the gathering.

In his speech, Churchill said the United States today "stands at the summit of human affairs" and that from every side nations "look to her."

The United States, Churchill added, has "a greater measure of power, a greater measure of world esteem, she marches in state and majesty which has not been seen in this world since the fall of the ancient capital of the Roman empire."

"With your great power are also the great responsibilities. The world looks to you for guidance if we are to achieve the purposes for which so many sacrifices were made," he said.

Extraordinary precautions were taken by Scotland Yard men and city authorities to guard the doughty Briton in his Waldorf-Astoria hotel suite and during his swing through the city.

Churchill was expected to reply tonight to critics of his Fulton, Mo., speech and possibly to Stalin's denunciation.

Copies of his talk tonight were secret. A member of Churchill's staff said the British war leader had the only copy to use in delivery from 10:30 to 11 p. m.

Two Communist members of the city council did not attend the ceremony at City Hall.

LONDON, March 15 (INS)—The London Daily Mirror said today Tory chiefs in Britain will ask Churchill to resign as leader of the Conservative party when he returns here March 26.

Gloria's $100,000 Bid For Mom's Gem in Vain

NEW YORK, March 15—Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski has offered as high as $100,000 for the 16¼-carat diamond ring her mother, Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, sold to a Dayton, O., gem dealer for $30,000, the New York Daily Mirror said today. Mrs. Vanderbilt sold the ring to Jack M. Werst of Dayton in February after her daughter had cut off her $21,000 yearly allowance.

Mrs. Gloria Vanderbilt

In Mexico City, Mrs. Stokowski, heiress to Reginald Vanderbilt's millions, declined to discuss her offer for the ring, but she talked at length to a press conference about the Leopold Stokowski and Gloria Stokowski Foundation which she has set up with part of the more than $4,000,000 fortune which became hers when she reached 21 in February, 1945.

Gloria said she and her elderly symphony conductor-husband had contributed equal shares to the fund, which will help blind and indigent children of the United States and Europe, and will extend aid to "needy and worthy artists."

She declined to say how much she had put in, but remarked that eventually it would be in the millions.

The Mirror story stated that Gloria, to whom her mother's engagement ring has great sentimental value, sent two gem brokers from New York to California to offer the $100,000 to Werst.

Werst was quoted by the Mirror as saying: "I don't like to disappoint Gloria, but the ring isn't for sale at present. I'm going to hold it for at least a year."

Displaying the jewel for the first time since Gloria's mother sold it, Werst described it as pear-shaped, containing a 16¼-carat perfect blue-white diamond mined in South Africa. It is set in a platinum mounting containing two huge baguette diamonds weighing ¾ carat each.

Gloria's father bought it in 1922 from Tiffany's for $75,000.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, meanwhile, told newsmen she had not yet decided to accept any of several employment offers reported to have been made to her in the wake of news that she is in reduced financial circumstances.

Asked if she planned eventually to accept an employment offer, she said: "Naturally, I'll have to."

Sweetest Girl Contest Has P. O. Clerks in Dither

General delivery clerks in Boston's postoffice enthusiastically performed added duties this morning when they set themselves up as beauty judges in a "sweetest girl" sweepstakes.

As pretty girls lined up, the clerks tried to maintain an impartial attitude.

But their fun was short lived. Postmaster Patrick J. Connelly halted the contest by ruling that the letter written by a 22-year-old Holland boy and addressed only to "The Sweetest Girl in Boston, Massachusetts, U. S. A.," had to go to the dead letter office.

The clerks received the letter yesterday and conceived the idea of the sweepstakes, with themselves as judges, to find the pen pal wished by the Dutch wag, who had signed himself only, A. Lighthart.

The first applicant was by a charmer 85 years young. She said she realized her age might be against her, but cooed that she felt her other attributes qualified her for the title.

Even men joined the line. One said he came from out of town to enter the name of his sister.

A pretty 24-year-old blonde confided she had brought her bathing suit. At this point the contest was stopped.

Curley Acts On Chelsea St Light Protest

A protest against poor lighting conditions on Chelsea st., East Boston, today received immediate attention from Mayor Curley who called the traffic commission, the public works department and the police commissioner, while a delegation from the district was in his office, and demanded these departments remedy the situation at once.

A group of 30 residents had marched on City Hall with placards describing Chelsea st. as "Boston's Death Valley" and calling attention to "Three Victims in Three Days on Chelsea st."

Jerry Barletta, Princeton st., spokesman for a 12-man delegation which met the mayor, said conditions were dangerous at all hours and told the mayor there was not sufficient police protection.

Barletta told the Mayor three persons have been killed and six injured in automobile accidents on the street in the past year. He said lighting conditions are so poor motorists are unable to see pedestrians.

The delegation also charged that because of the lack of traffic lights it has been made a speedway by through traffic.

The Mayor agreed the situation was extremely dangerous and immediately called William P. Hickey, chairman of the traffic commission, and told him to provide traffic lights for the street.

The mayor then called the public works department and told them to contact the Edison Co. and ask the company to install more street lights on Chelsea st.

His third call was to Police Commr. Sullivan. Sullivan was not in his office but the mayor instructed the commissioner's secretary to inform him that more police were needed on Chelsea st. He asked for day and night traffic patrolmen and specifically asked that police be assigned to four schools in the area.

Boston Teachers Form Clubs to Push Demands

Organization of more than 40 teachers' clubs in the Boston school system was started today to prepare their grievances for presentation at the Boston School Committee meeting Tuesday. Miss Catherine M. McHugh, president of the Elementary Teachers' Club, largest in the school system, has summoned a meeting of the organization's directors for tonight to plan what action the group will take in the growing unrest among teachers.

The organization movement began after a publication prepared by Boston English High School teachers yesterday had attacked lack of leadership among school administrative officials and the political aspect of the school committee.

"I have said over and over again that the morale of elementary school teachers has gone down because of conditions in the schools," Miss McHugh said today. "We feel there is no incentive for elementary teachers to remain in grade schools."

She said elementary teachers had received no pay raises since 1925 and that they were being forced to perform duties which other school employes should handle. Her complaints to the committee and the board of superintendents had received "very little response," she added.

Disclosure of the increasing unrest among teachers came today after Committeeman Clement A. Norton had declared the morale of Boston's 4000 teachers was "never better."

Norton offered to resign if John E. Bowler, editor of the English High School publication, could prove the charges contained in the latest issue.

Peabody Infirmary Fight to Go to Court

PEABODY, March 15—Asserting the spoils belong to the victor, Mayor Leo F. McGrath today decided to go to court to remove Charles Reynolds as superintendent of the city infirmary and install his own choice, John G. Norris.

Announcement came after Reynolds for the third time refused to depart and challenged the mayor's powers with appeals to the State Department of Welfare and the Attorney-General.

Norris made his third unsuccessful pilgrimage to take over, and then marked time for a court fight which has the whole city in a furor.

"Peabody plays its politics hard," Mayor McGrath said today. "This is an example. Reynolds did not support me in the last election. In fact, he openly campaigned against me and I caught him driving inmates from the home to vote against me. I told him if I got in he was out. What's the sense of being mayor if you can't reward your friends? I don't care if I'm a one or two term mayor. My friends are going to have what I can get them."

Reynolds contends that under the state's general laws he cannot be removed except through the city welfare board, appointed by former Mayor Edward McVann. The superintendent was appointed by former Mayor Joseph O'Keefe and was approved by the welfare board.

Mayor McGrath insists that the local welfare board now has no status and has ordered City Solicitor George Ankles to begin court proceedings against Reynolds at once.

Representatives of the State Welfare Department were here today to investigate.

Reynolds' counsel, Atty. Daniel O'Rourke, said for the past five years Reynolds had taken over without additional compensation the jobs of ash collection, garbage removal and operation of community gardens.

"He has turned over to the city treasury $52,000 in that time," O'Rourke said.

Mayor McGrath John G. Norris

Meanwhile, Reynolds and his wife, who is matron at the infirmary, hold the fort and Norris and his wife are waiting on the doorsteps.

Lewis Withholds UMW Demands

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—John L. Lewis pressed a war of nerves today in his negotiations for a new wage contract for his 400,000 soft coal miners.

The chief of the United Mine Workers still refused to tip his hand on what specific demands he wants operators to meet, but he insisted on more talk about what he calls unsatisfactory health and safety conditions prevailing in the industry.

Operators met the extended discourse with cries of "filibuster."

Charles O'Neill, chairman of the bituminous coal operators negotiation committee, said that Lewis, without any actual bargaining, had consumed 20 per cent of the time available for negotiating a contract before the April 1 deadline on the present agreement.

Boy, 4, Judge Chat French As Court Weighs Paternity

A bright, 4-year-old youngster chatted in French with Judge Jennie Loitman Barron in municipal court today while the purported father argued the boy is offspring of a second marriage and must look elsewhere for support.

Henry Nault, 27, of Harrison ave., Roxbury, said he married the boy's mother, the former Rita Leroux, in April, 1940, in Arizona.

Fighting against support of the youngster, Armand, Nault testified he left his wife to go to Texas and was certain she afterwards got a divorce.

He said he and his wife had a child in Arizona, but insisted the child was a girl, that she died and was buried there. He said his wife told him she afterwards married Harry Wartin, a soldier, over the border in Jaurez, Mexico.

Rita, the wife, was not there to tell her story. She was shot to death Nov. 11, 1942, in the South End by Orlando DiGiacommandre, 19, now serving a manlaughter sentence at Concord Reformatory.

Armand was represented in court by his grandmother, Mrs. Leontine Dolpe of Noanet st., South End, who wants Nault to pay for the boy's support in Lowell where he now is boarded.

Judge Barron asked to talk to the youngster and Armand politely came forward, saying "Bon jour, madame." Judge Barron replied in kind and learned that the people caring for Armand are French.

She continued the case until March 25 and ordered Arizona records be checked.

These Days

Truth About Loan

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WHEN Joseph P. Kennedy suggested that the United States make Great Britain a grant-in-aid rather than a loan, he bespoke, honesty of purpose, for by no stretch of the imagination, even of politicians, is it possible to call the current transaction between these countries a loan.

For a loan involves an absolute assurance of a return. The lender assumes no risk at all. He takes into account the ability of the borrower to meet his obligations and should he find them inadequate or doubtful, he does not make the loan.

He demands security to eliminate risk. The required security depends upon the degree of certainty of the ability of the borrower to repay. The lender wants not only a return of his money but a reward for its use by the borrower.

This is interest. If the borrower's credit is poor, he charges a higher interest because whereas he invites no risk, an element of doubt has entered into the transaction.

If the borrower's credit is good, the interest charge is likely to be less.

BUT IT IS essential that the lender shall have the money to lend. That is altogether uncertain in this particular instance. For the lender, the United States, is heavily in debt, actually has to pay higher interest for the money it borrows from its own people than it is charging the British borrower.

As a matter of fact, when Secretary of the Treasury Vinson was asked at a Senate committee hearing to elaborate what interest he thought the American government would have to pay to borrow the money to lend to the British, he did not answer.

And when asked if someone else in the Treasury would discuss this subject, he said, "No."

All this makes this loan operation exceedingly unbusinesslike. In fact, the loan takes on the appearance of a grant-in-aid while being advertised as a loan.

A curious document was issued by Fred M. Vinson, James F. Byrnes, Henry A. Wallace, M. S. Eccles, William McC. Martin, Jr.—all of the National Advisory Council on International Monetary and Financial Problems—in which the point is made, in favor of the loan, that:

"... Such a situation has already arisen, for instance, with reference to railroad equipment, machine tools, power and transmission equipment, and certain types of general industrial machinery.

"This is also true for some of the metals, heavy chemicals, synthetic rubber, and other industrial materials.

"Similarly, we have quantities of cotton, tobacco and other agricultural products which are surplus to domestic needs.

"It is fortunate that this excess productive capacity is for many items which are most urgently needed by the war-devastated countries."

NOW, NONE of this is true. In fact, this country is frightfully short of these commodities.

We are so short of railroad equipment that although the war has been over for months, it is still impossible to restore normal civilian transportation or to move agricultural products with essential rapidity.

In spite of this lack of equipment, carloadings in the week of March 2 this year were only 1 per cent below a year ago when we were at war, which explains why transportation is so difficult.

As for machine tools, power and transmission equipment and industrial machinery, the shortages are so critical that the capital or consumers' goods for which the entire country is weeping cannot be provided.

As for steel, the shortage is so keen that buyers practically stand in line to get their quotas.

I wonder if these great authorities would like to list the products of which there is an excess in this country or which we could afford to export right now.

I should like to see some evidence of the excess, for instance, in cotton in the United States this week or last week or next week, in view of the shortage in shirts, underwear, cotton goods.

Passengers Aboard Clipper Plane That Made Forced Landing at Hub Airport
INP by Harry Simard

Huge London Plane Forced To Land Here

Four English war brides and two more engaged to marry Army veterans were among 37 passengers and crew of 11 aboard a huge Pan-American Airways Constellation transport forced to make an emergency landing today at Logan Airport when weather conditions closed New York's La-Guardia Field.

It was the second time in less than two weeks a Pan-American transatlantic airliner, supposedly too big and heavy to land at the "Hub of the Air Universe," had glided safely to the ground in an emergency landing here.

"It was no trouble at all," said Ray A. Young, pilot. "I'm surprised, though, your field hasn't got paved runways. A city of the size of Boston ought to have a better airport than this."

He anticipated no trouble, however, in taking the ship off just as easily as he had brought it in for his landing. First it must undergo repairs of one engine and then await lifting of the weather, which was reported closing down on Boston, causing cancellation of all flights here.

"Our number three engine gave us trouble while we were over Bangor, Me.," Young said, "but with a four-motored job we don't need it and we feathered the prop and continued on our way to New York."

The pilot said the ship, which took off at sunset from London airport yesterday and stopped at Shannon, Eire, and Gander, Newfoundland, en route, was halfway to New York when LaGuardia Field radioed the ceiling was zero there.

He considered the possibility of continuing on to Washington but the operations office in New York suggested he turn back and land at Boston for "precautionary reasons."

Witnesses reported the plane glided in to a perfect landing on its double-wheeled tricycle landing gear.

The passengers had to remain aboard until customs officials passed them through the routine immigration procedure.

Among the first to leave the plane were the four war brides.

One of them, Mrs. Cecelia Gibson, 21, Cambridge, England, was carrying her 7-months-old son, Roland W.

Mrs. Gibson planned to meet her husband, former 8th Air Force S-Sgt. Willard Gibson, at New York, and accompany him to his home in Bradshaw, W. Va.

Mrs. Joyce Mendes, 21, was flying to a New York reunion with her husband, Carl, former Army cook, and then journey with him to his home in New Bedford. Mrs. Goldie Knoppnacher, 21, an expectant mother, declined to talk other than to say she was bound for Providence.

The fourth bride was Mrs. Sheila Pershing, 20, bound for reunion with her husband, Marvin, of Glassboro, N. J.

Passengers included three Pan-American executives.

Bowling Green Victory Crew Here Out to Top Ulysses' Mark

The crew of the War Shipping Administration freighter Bowling Green Victory lolled about the decks here today and agreed they still have a good chance to beat the record of Ulysses. It seems the Bowling Green is about to continue her odessey at any minute.

Not all the crew are masters of the Greek classics but one or two have a working knowledge of the 10-year wanderings of good old Ulysses and they are willing to bet right now they have been in more ports than the famed Greek hero.

After wandering around the world since Oct. 14—when she sailed for the Pacific with 6600 tons of Army supplies—the vessel now is waiting for the Army, the War Shipping Administration and the War Assets Corp. to decide where she goes to next.

Boston will well remember the stopover here, however, for four of the crew in their quest for relaxation ended up before Judge Zotolli in municipal court today.

They had been arrested in the wee morning hours at the Hotel Touraine after mattresses, glassware and pieces of furniture began to float down on Boylston st. from the fifth-floor suite. Lodgers at the hotel also had objected to the celebration.

Speaking for the visitors in court was Leo Healey, the ship's purser, who outlined the dull wanderings of his mates in Okinawa—where they stayed two months—and at just about every port of any size from the Philippines back to Boston.

Judge Zottoli agreed to give them probation on charges of malicious destruction of property, but held three of the crew in court until Healey went back to the ship and got $86.50 to compensate the hotel for damage. The other offenders were William Walker, Ray Moffatt and Donald Nollett.

All explained they had been far from home so long they just had to bust loose and "have some fun." Police intimated — more than broadly — that wine had been flowing.

Court action was only incidental to troubles of the Bowling Green Victory. A wire from Washington yesterday said, "Stop unloading stop." It seems the War Assets Corp. has to look over the cargo, which, incidentally, is now pretty well rusted after world wanderings.

John J. Haggerty, regional director here of the WAC, said today: "I could sell that cargo, as is, in a day to a lot of hungry civilian bidders. But the Army has got to declare it surplus commodities first, and besides I haven't heard anything from my superiors in Washington."

Meanwhile, the crew is going to eat three squares a day, and try to keep out of trouble until the Army—or someone—decides on another nice place to send the vessel.

The ship, carrying everything from clothing, shoes and roofing materials up to bulldozers and cranes, sailed on its maiden voyage two months after VJ-Day. It has traveled 25,000 miles already and just getting up steam.

Homer should have lived to see it.

COURT OFFICER McELROY WITH DONALD A. McKINNON
Chelmsford Man Gets Life Term in Wife Slaying
INP by Bill Jones

Life Term Given Wife-Slayer

Donald Alexander McKinnon, 39, of Chelmsford, was sentenced to life imprisonment today for the bread-knife murder of his estranged wife, Rose B. McKinnon, 38, in a Cambridge apartment two days before Christmas, after he had begged her vainuy to take him back.

Tense and pale, his left arm still in a brace as the result of an attempt to take his own life at the time of the slaying, McKinnon stood before Judge Allen T. Buttrick in Middlesex Superior Court and said he wished to plead guilty to second degree murder.

He stabbed his wife to death and slashed his own wrists in her apartment in Rindge ave., North Cambridge. The couple's 15-year-old daughter, Rose, who had run from the house when she heard her parents quarrelling, later returned to find her mother dead and her father semi-conscious, blood streaming from his wounds.

Other States Aid Wisconsin Hunt For Girl Student

MADISON, Wis., March 15 (AP)—Police Chief William McCormick said today he had asked authorities in several states to aid in a search for Suzanne Froedtert, 16-year-old daughter of a wealthy Milwaukee grain executive, who disappeared from Edgewood academy, a girls' school here, Monday.

The girl, a first-year student, was seen Monday by a truck driver who told police he had given her a short ride from the school before declining her request to drive her to the Madison downtown area.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kurtis R. Froedtert, are vacationing in Florida.

A school official said no disciplinary action had been taken against Miss Froedtert, but that she had been notified Monday academy authorities planned to consult her parents concerning a disciplinary matter, the nature of which was not disclosed.

Wisconsin Governor, 83, to Run Again

MADISON, Wis., March 15 (AP)—Gov. Walter S. Goodland of Wisconsin, oldest Governor in the United States, said today he would be a candidate for re-election this fall.

The 83-year-old chief executive said at a press conference, "I am a candidate and I'll stick it out unless I die."

Massachusetts residents are dining out more and more.

2 Weeks More Given to Find Baby's Mother

LAWRENCE, March 15—The 13 day-old infant girl abandoned here a week ago had a name today—she was officially christened Frances Doe—and although she is now a temporary ward of the State, her final status as an abandoned child has been deferred for two weeks to give police time to find her mother.

The two-week period of grace was granted by Judge John J. Darcy when the baby was brought into juvenile court after it was learned police received some definite clues in a letter left in a basket with the baby at the home of Mrs. Raymond O'Keefe.

A new appeal to the mother was issued today by Miss Marion A. Joyce, state director of child guardianship.

"If the baby's mother appears voluntarily, arrangements will be made for her to visit the child in the foster home until she is able to care for the infant herself," Miss Joyce said.

The infant was baptized in the Catholic faith because of a religious medal she wore when she was found.

Taxi Robbery Suspect Held

Robert G. Breese, 27, Tremont st., South End, was today held in $20,000 for the grand jury after pleading not guilty in Roxbury court to a charge of robbery of $17.40 from Gabriel Solomon, 29, Intervale st., Roxbury, a cab driver.

According to police, Breese hired Solomon's cab at Washington and Dover sts., Wednesday night and asked to be driven to Thorndike st., Roxbury. When they reached there, police said, Breese demanded the cabbie's money. Solomon turned over $14 in bills, but the bandit demanded his change and was given $3.40.

2 Ask Freedom From Same Wife

Two North Shore men, one an ex-GI, today brought suits in Salem probate court for divorce and an annulment from the same woman, Mrs. Theresa Giardi Brown, who when last heard from was in Walla Walla, Wash.

Anthony Giardi, 31, Endicott st., Salem, testified he wed Theresa in 1938 in Lynn and had consider ed getting a divorce in 1941 but never went through with it. He was sure about wanting one today.

Frederick J. Brown, 28, Union st., Lynn, recently discharged from the Army, testified he knew Theresa in Lynn and she came out to an Army camp while he was in California in 1944 and told him she had been divorced.

He added they were wed at Quartzite, Ariz., June 17, 1944, and lived together six months in Arizona, California and then in Walla Walla. He told the court she began to hit the high spots and that he left her. Judge John A. Costello took the cases under advisement.

Caesarean Birth Of Triplets Noted

CARLISLE, Pa., March 15 (AP) —Three girls were born by Caesarean section to Mrs. James S. Hendry, already the mother of a two-year-old boy, while her Army officer husband presumably was on his way here from Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

It was the first birth of triplets in Carlisle Hospital in 20 years, but Dr. E. Blaine Hays commented that Caesarean delivery of triplets is not a rare event. A normal birth had been expected about mid-April, he added, but the operation was decided upon after it became evident Mrs. Hendry's condition was unusual and there was a possibility of complications.

Army Shifts Weather Chief Who Wouldn't Aid Spanish

ROME, March 15 (AP)—Stars and Stripes reported today Lt. William Allen, weather forecaster at the Ciampino Airport, had been ordered transferred to Germany for refusing to handle the briefing of the pilot of a Spanish plane which was to carry Spanish cardinals to Madrid from the Rome consistory March 2.

The Army paper said the issue at the Rome airport over American Army personnel servicing Spanish planes was sharpened yesterday "with the sudden transfer of Allen to Germany and a request for the names, serial numbers and military occupation specialty numbers of nine officers composing the weather station complement at Ciampino."

Allen, whose mother lives in Chicago, said he had been ordered to report immediately to the Fifth Weather Wing headquarters, Weisbaden, Germany. He did not know wheather the transfer was a result of the incident, but could think of no other reason."

Allen said he refused to brief the Spanish pilot because he felt too strongly concerning U. S.-Spanish relations.

Maj. John B. Harling, executive officer at the air base, said about six Spanish planes landed at Ciampino in the last few months. He said Allied Headquarters had given clearance to all.

Surplus Sales Policy Revised

SHANGHAI, March 15 (AP)—Revising its policy on disposal of surplus war property, the United States foreign commission s now anxious the Army and Navy return all new or serviceible surplus property to the United States, Liquidation Comr. Thomas B. McCabe said today.

Previously, McCabe said, the ommission had emphasized sales utside the United States and had old for $300,000,000, more than 7 per cent, of all goods thus far eclared surplus.

The new policy, he reported, re-ulted from shortages in the nited States of such critical ems as building materials and utomotive equipment. Another ause, McCabe said, came from a remendous pentup consumer de-and felt in America as a result f a lower rate of manufacturing utput than previously expected."

Hyde Park Skipper's Ship Really Took It With Midway

By ED ALLEN

ABOARD U. S. S. MIDWAY, OFF LABRADOR, March 15 (INS)—The little destroyer Ware, which accompanied the carrier Midway on a cruise into the Arctic, checked in by wireless today on her experiences in a blustery polar hurricane.

And it was quite a story.

For three days the Ware pitched in front of a 55-mile an hour tailwind and looped-the-loop at a 42-degree roll. She left the Midway escort March 12 and is due at St. John's, Nfld., today.

The Midway herself felt the storm plenty, losing many of her life rafts and suffering damage to the gallery deck which normally is 44 feet above the water.

But the Ware really had a time of it. Her skipper, Com. Henry Wier of Hyde Park, Mass., assured his deckmates and the Midway that the ice around the destroyer was solid enough to support the ship and he added she could take a 65-degree roll anyway without going over.

Coast Guard Com. Garrett Graves of Alexander, Va., reported sighting an iceberg a quarter of a mile long. Sixty feet of the chill mountain was above water, meaning that 420 feet lay below. Break-off ice chunks from the berg scraped the Ware's hull.

There are 20 civilians aboard the Midway, rolling around in weather that is surely none too good.

Without attempting to speak for anyone else, the word for the moment seems to be—groggy.

"I'm engaged," said Karl Kindler, "and she said she wouldn't marry me unless I got her a pair."

Cherry Blossoms Out at Capital

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—Cherry trees are showing their first blooms, somewhat to the surprise of park officials who hadn't expected them for another week.

Hurried along by warm weather, the first blossoms burst out five days ahead of last year, a record date. They are single blossoms. Officials said most of them may be out over the week-end if the weather remains warm; the prettier pink double blossoms come about two weeks later.

The trees were a gift from Japan, but Washingtonians soft-pedal that angle.

Strikes Delay Tax Returns

Internal Revenue collectors reported the volume of federal income tax returns filed as of today—the deadline—has been small, adding strikes and reconversion in industry were contributing causes.

The Boston office said permission has been given from Washington to grant extensions to industries whose activity has been curtailed by work stoppages. These industries were unable to give accurate information on money earned by employes and taxes withheld while wage negotiationse were in progress, an Internal Revenue official said.

Too Many Girls Cost Him Wife

Margaret Talerico, Warren ave., Chelsea, won a divorce in Suffolk probate court today from James, of Taunton, after she testified their trouble was due to many other gals.

"He told me Thanksgiving Day in 1944 he was in love with someone else," she told Judge Dillon. "I began to believe he was in love with a lot of women right after that when I found a little black book in his pocket. There were names of 0 girls and their telephone numbers in it and when I asked about it he knocked me down.

"Later, when I told him I would have to go to the hospital to have a baby he said he had gambled away the maternity money."

She was given custody of one child.

A B-17 Flying Fortress, purchased from the government by Salem last year for use as a war memorial, was broken into and badly damaged by vandals at Beverly airport, police reported today.

ALL RIGHT, MISS BLAKE... LET'S HAVE IT
I LEFT THE OFFICE AT FIVE AS USUAL, BUT FORGOT MY OVERSHOES. WHEN I WENT BACK, I OVERHEARD RHODA LOCKERBEE, ON THE PHONE, TELLING SOMEONE NAMED MONTY ABOUT YOUR ARRANGEMENT TO HAVE MISS DORIAN WORK AT OUR AGENCY AS A MODEL!
WHY ARE YOU TELLING ME THIS?
BECAUSE POOR CHIP FARADAY WAS MY FRIEND... SHE WAS MY ROOMMATE HERE AND IN COLLEGE. I WANT TO SEE HER MURDERER CAUGHT— WHOEVER IT MAY BE!
YOU HATE RHODA LOCKERBEE, DON'T YOU? YOU MAY HAVE GOOD REASON BUT DON'T LET IT RUN AWAY WITH YOU! NOW, IF YOU DON'T MIND, I HAVE A DINNER ENGAGEMENT
RATHER AN INTERESTING DEVELOPMENT IN THE CHIP FARADAY MURDER CASE, EH, DESMOND? HOPE YOU TOOK DOWN EVERY-THING MOUSEY BLAKE SAID...
I DID, SIR. SHALL I CALL MISS DORIAN AND TELL HER YOU'RE ON YOUR WAY OVER?

Von Model Kills Self in Duisburg

HERFORD, Germany, March 15 (AP)—Field Marshal Walther Von Model, who had been hunted since his army was crushed in the Ruhr trap a year ago, took his own life by shooting April 21, 1945 British intelligence officers said today.

They said he feared that if he surrendered himself to the Western Allies he would be turned over to the Russians as a war criminal.

Von Model's suicide and secret burial occurred at Duisburg, officers reported.

Von Model, who was group commander on the Russian front prior to being transferred to the western front, was among the German officers accused by Russia of being responsible for deaths of 577,000 persons in concentration camps.

Flies 2000 Miles To Kill His Wife

LOS ANGELES, March 15 (INS)—Paul E. Olive, 50-year-old Decatur, Ill., mechanic, was held today on suspicion of murder after he allegedly flew 2000 miles from Chicago to kill his wife with a butcher knife.

Police said they found Olive standing by the body of Irene May Olive, 46. They quoted him as saying:

"I knew what I was doing and I know what the penalty is. I told my wife I would kill her if she left me. When I got married I took my marriage vows seriously."

Olive came to Los Aigeles by plane in an attempt to convince her she should return to Decatur with him. After a four-hour discussion at the home of her sister, Mrs. Harry B. Youtz, Olive allegedly beat Mrs. Olive on the head with a bottle, stuffed a washcloth into her mouth, then stabbed her three times.

Sentence Father, Son for Thefts

Guilty pleas were made by a father and son in East Cambridge court today to stealing antiques and rare glassware from the home of Dr. Thomas J. Ball, Broadway, Cambridge.

Judge Arthur P. Stone sentenced the father, Alexander Duff, 60, of Belmont st., Watertown, to one year in the House of Correction and gave the son, Francis Duff, 38, a suspended sentence. The father appealed and was held in $5000.

The elder Duff was employed by Dr. Ball as a handyman. Police said they were caught Monday removing a package of glassware from the doctor's residence, after Dr. Ball had reported several articles missing. Most of the loot has been recovered.

Lumberman Dies In Chair After 14 Reprieves

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 15 (AP)—A 65-year-old former Birmingham timber broker died in the electric chair today for the slaying of a prominent landowner, climaxing a case which went to the U. S. Supreme Court twice and in which 14 reprieves had been granted.

Shortly before his death, E. J. Burns said:

"There is not a man, child or woman connected with the Prescott murder . . . that does not know that I am not the man that murdered Jake Prescott."

Burns was convicted in 1943 for the killing of Prescott, for 20 years a member of the Birmingham Democratic executive committee. Burns claimed he was convited on perjured testimony.

Minutes before his death he shouted to witnesses:

"I hope everybody who lied to electrocute me burns in hell."

Prescott's body was found in a creek with the throat cut and stomach slit.

Hub-Ireland Ship Link Proposed

Efforts to establish a direct shipping link between Boston and Ireland were started by the Maritime Ass'n, Chamber of Commerce, today following receipt of a telegram from Cong. McCormack, House majority leader, saying Irish officials would welcome a chance to use Boston as a cargo terminus.

Cong. McCormack quoted Irish Minister Robert Brennan as saying vessels flying the Irish flag "certainly would make regular calls" to Boston provided there were adequate freight offerings here to warrant stops.

3 Held in Break At Somerville

Three men, arrested at gun point by a Somerville patrolman after his suspicions were aroused by a parked car with motor running outside the Brilliant Motor Co., Broadway, were held in $10,000 each for the grand jury today.

William J. Daley, 21, Somerville ave., and Edward Sherwin, 22, Maverick st., East Boston, both pleaded guilty to charges of breaking and entering and larceny when arraigned before Judge Gadsby in Somerville district court. John J. Logue, 33, Washington st., Medford, entered a plea of not guilty.

Patrolman James F. Holmes surprised two men in the office near the safe.

Drawing his gun, the officer ordered them to hold out their arms and snapped handcuffs on their wrists. Suspecting there was a third man in the car outside, he asked a soldier who was passing to watch the car while he phoned for a patrol wagon.

The third man, according to Holmes, was found crouching on the floor in the rear of the car.

Jackson Kin Lauds Illustrious Ancestor

By BERT FORD

Today was Andrew Jackson Day in the Andrew Jackson School in Armington st., Brighton, where a special observance of Jackson's 179th birthday was inspired by the Hearst Newspapers 1946 National Oratorical Contest: "Andrew Jackson, Seventh President of the United States."

More than 500 pupils in the school participated in a series of dramatic sketches and tableaux based on the life of this great American. Although they are too young to enlist in the contest, which is open to high school and college students in 13 major cities throughout the country, they paid honor to the memory of "Old Hickory." Many of these pupils have brothers and sisters in the contest.

Another tribute to Andrew Jackson has come from a living descendant of the great general—Lt. Andrew Jackson Lawrence, II, of San Antonio, Tex., a great-great-grandson of the seventh President.

Lt. Lawrence during World War II was a B-26 pilot, and made 38 combat missions with the Ninth Air Force over Europe. He was wounded in action, and received the Purple Heart, three battle stars and the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters.

"I believe the research entailed in preparing material for this contest will afford many students an opportunity to study the interesting and exemplifying life of 'Old Hickory'," Lt. Lawrence said.

At the Andrew Jackson school, pupils in the fourth grade, under direction of Miss Leone M. McLane and Miss Helen Pauline Kelly, presented "The Highlights of Andrew Jackson's Life," in costumes of the period, which were brought from the southern states where Jackson's dramatic career was launched.

Won Over Odds

When military men discuss great achievements, Jackson's conduct of the Battle of New Orleans receives its full mede of praise. Seldom has a general entered an engagement against such overwhelming odds.

The English, fresh from their victory over Napoleon, with a fleet that had won fame at Trafalgar, far outnumbered the raw recruits that Jackson was able to muster. With 50 ships manned by 9000 sailors and marines, carrying 1000 cannons and over 10,000 veteran soldiers, the British opened their siege. It seemed absurd to believe that less than 3000 raw militia could resist the seasoned campaigners who had conquered the armies of Napoleon. But the American soldiers had caught the spirit of their leader, Andrew Jackson. They not only resisted—they won.

Only Golden Rule Can Block War, Harvard Prophet Says

Harvard Sociologist Pitirim A. Sorokin, who forecast World War II back in the 1920's, predicted today a third global explosion was in the making unless "mankind begins to practice the golden rule and replaces present competitive culture and social institutions by those in the spirit of the Sermon on the Mount."

"Neither UNO nor world government alone can prevent war," Sorokin told the Associated Press, and added:

"Since 500 B. C. there have been 967 international wars and civil wars. Mere world government would only substitute civil for international wars."

In his opinion, "the third global war will be not only atomic but bacteriological."

"The world is in a race for the most destructive weapons, spends billions for that purpose and does not have any single research institute for a study of what makes human beings good and how to make them practice the noble things they preach," he said.

"Mankind seems to be generous to finance research for its own destruction and reluctant to finance a study of the means of its salvation!"

Los Angeles Shaken by Quake

LOS ANGELES, March 15 (INS)—An earthquake described by California Institute of Technology experts as "the most serious disturbance in Southern California in three years" shook Los Angeles early today.

Although the tremor at 5:51 a. m. was felt for about 30 seconds, the Caltech seismological experts said it was still going on, according to instruments. No damage was reported, but the tremor stopped clocks in some areas, and Los Angeles City Hall and police department telephones were swamped with calls.

REDS LEAVE MUKDEN

AS SOON AS the United States took a firm and positive stand on the betrayal of China by Russia, the Reds got out of Mukden.

Like the sons of Genghis Khan, they left suddenly to foment disorders.

They left the city in flames.

Mukden is indisputably a Chinese city.

It was the home city, the capital, of the Ching dynasty that ruled China from 1644 to 1912.

The Russians have no claim to Mukden.

The Japanese had no claim to Mukden.

Mukden was freed from Japanese possession by the United States of America.

It was the forces of General MacArthur and Admiral Nimitz and the atomic bomb that liberated that city.

The Russians came into the Far Eastern war, for six days, after it was practically over.

Then they grabbed Manchuria, half of Korea, the Kurile Islands.

They would have grabbed more of China, if the United States and Great Britain had not stiffened their attitude.

MANCHURIA HAS for many years been a battleground of imperialism.

After the Sino-Japanese War of 1894, the Russians, who had not been a party to the war, joined up with Germany and France and squeezed the Japanese out.

First they acted as China's "friend" and then they grabbed more than the Japanese asked for after a war.

By corruption and coercion they got old Li Hung-Chang to sign the Li-Lobanoff Treaty—an offensive-defensive alliance.

And out of that they got a railroad, the Chinese Eastern, and a bank, the Russo-Asiatic, and the control of a zone which gave them the mastery of the whole of Manchuria.

John Hay, Secretary of State, a courageous American, blasted that deal by enunciating "The Open Door Policy," which told the Russians and the world that the United States would tolerate no monopolies that were disguised occupation.

DURING THE Boxer Rebellion, the Russians tried again.

They sent an army into Manchuria and began to administer that country as though it were their own.

It was Russia's continued imperialism in Manchuria that produced the Anglo-Japanese alliance in 1902 and the Russo-Japanese War in 1904.

The United States helped to finance the Japanese in that war and it was the intervention of Theodore Roosevelt that brought it to a close.

By the Treaty of Portsmouth, Japan ceded to Russia various rights south of Changchun, including the area about Mukden.

But the Russians never quit.

In 1907, 1910, 1912 and 1916, they entered into secret treaties with the Japanese, establishing spheres of influence which divided Manchuria and Mongolia between them.

The United States never recognized those agreements.

BUILD IT NOW

ATTACKING Boston's "intolerable and totally unnecessary" traffic congestion and warning against "economic disaster," the Massachusetts Postwar Highway Commission has presented a program which calls for construction of off-street parking installations, such as the proposed garage under the Common.

Legislation for the garage should be enacted immediately.

Failure to give the motoring public this service is costing the city and State too many jobs and too much prosperity.

And as bad as conditions now are, they will be infinitely worse when all the people who have saved for automobiles are able to get them.

Say, what can I do for thee?
Weary thee, grieve thee?
Lean on thy shoulder,
New burdens to add?
Weep my tears over thee
Making thee sad?
Oh, hold me not—love me not!
Let me retrieve thee,
I love thee so, dear,
That I only can leave thee.
—E. B. BROWNING.

ELIZABETH BARRETT was 39 years old and had never been married when she met Robert Browning. At the time of their wedding, Elizabeth was 40 and Browning 34. Mrs. Browning became a mother for the first time at the age of 43. She wrote the above poem when she was trying to persuade Browning he shouldn't marry her because she was an invalid . . . Men of science studying outdoor weather control are reported making much progress. It is believed in the not far distant future it will be possible to make climates to order. How about the climate in your section? Are you satisfied with it? I like a place where it is cold in the winter, balmy in the spring, pleasant in the summer and snappy in the fall. All I would ask of the outdoor weather control experts would be to eliminate the extremes in the various seasons. And, of course, to always furnish us with a white Christmas.

SIDELIGHTS: Opossum hunting in Australia must be a lucrative activity. Note an "Australian opossum coat" quoted for sale at $645 . . . SAYS SHE: "It has been said a shortage of men of marrying age makes it difficult for a girl to get a husband," writes a Chicago bachelorette. "It is not a man shortage that makes it difficult. It is the excess of male dopes of a type no intelligent girl cares to marry. Most women are intensely interested in self-improvement. Much more so than men. So there are about three times as many refined, cultured, intelligent girls as there are men of the same type. In brief, there is a shortage of so called 'nice men' like Tyrone Power, the kind every woman of refinement hopes to marry."

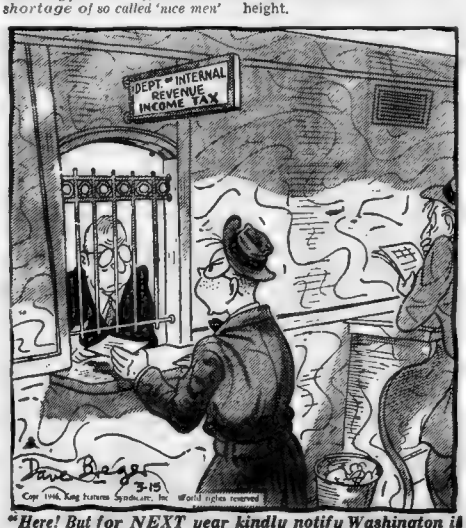
QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Is there a successful clothing store in New York city that sells nothing but blue serge suits? A—Never heard of one in New York. There was such a store in Chicago, but I believe it has gone out of business. Q—The white collar slave at the next desk says Man o' War ran the first six furlongs of a mile and an eighth in 1:09 2-5. Sounds impossible to me. How about it? A—As impossible as it sounds, that was the time in which the first six furlongs were run in the Dwyer Stakes in which Man o' War beat John P. Grier. It was a two-horse race.

WAR WEDDINGS: During the war, I stated several times I thought most war weddings would turn out all right and that after the war, the husbands would return to their wives and live happily ever after. Maybe I was wrong. So far about 800,000 G.I. Joe war wedding husbands have returned to this country. And one out of every four is now involved in divorce proceedings. Some pessimistic viewers of this situation say before 1950 that of 1,000 000 war weddings two out of every three will have ended in divorce.

TYPISTS: How fast can your charming typist type? She should be able to do around 47 words a minute. Lenore Fenton of Washington types at the pace of 180 words a minute.

PLEASE NOTE: The difficulties of a girl of 5 feet 10 or over in finding an escort or dance partner taller than she is continue. However, the clothing industry seems inclined to give the lengthy ladies special attention. Recently in Manhattan there was a fashion show featuring styles for women of 5 feet 10 inches and over in height.



"Here! But for NEXT year kindly notify Washington it had better not depend on me as a source of income!"

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1946, by King Features Syndicate)

WITH a peculiar satisfaction, I have watched the growth of Jimmy Petrillo, the president of the Musicians' Union, from a local character around Chicago to that of a high-octane menace to the sacred heritage bequeathed us by the embattled farmers of Bunker Hill and the chilblained heroes of Valley Forge.

Westbrook Pegler

I have talked shop with Jimmy many's the time and realize that he is constantly amazed, and amused, like me, that a little Chicago fellow, just on native cunning and nerve, by the accidental surge of a socio-political wave should become the subject of a personal bill of restraint in the Congress of the U. S. A. and one of the most fearsome figures of our time.

Jimmy was a Downtown and West Side newsboy in the gas-light and horse-truck days, closer to the frontier than we realized in our childish familiarity with gambling and a lad who hopped many a street car to sell enough sheets for a cent apiece and a profit of one-third to amass a nickel's worth of take-home.

The streets in the brutal winters were dirty with cold, deep slop when they weren't up to your waist in snow and the odds against a boy of Jimmy's social and economic level becoming a power in the land were something fabulous, his old man being a white wing at something like $15 a week.

JAMES HAS TOLD me that he qualified for a card in the Chicago Federation of Musicians because he had learned to blow a trumpet in a newsboys band, which I earnestly disbelieve.

It is unimportant, however, for to hold that a boss unioneer should be able to pass an examination in the craft of his organization would be to depose the ruling dictators of over about half our union membership.

Will Green, the president of the A. F. of L., for example, was a miner by trade way back in his youth but was ejected from the Mine Workers by his old president, John Lewis, when John formed the C. I. O. and broke away from the A. F. of L.

But a union president and, especially the president of the Federation of Labor, surely must hold a member's card in some union, so our Jimmy Petrillo gave Green a ticket in the musicians' union on the pretext, possibly, that Old Will at some time in his life had been heard to strike some chords on a parlor organ.

Phil Murray, now president of the C. I. O., was, like Green, a coal digger in his boyhood and also was cast out of the Mine Workers by his old friend, John.

So Phil became a member of the Steel Workers Union, which trade he was a stranger to.

AT ONE POINT, if you take his word for it, Jimmy was borrowed for a spell by lawless persons unknown, and his union, of which he had taken strong command by this time, had to spend $50,000 to get him back.

There were those who thought $50,000 a flagrant violation of the ceiling and some would have let him go at any price, reasoning that if they couldn't get another like him their luck could be worse, but the matter was not put to a formal referendum.

They bailed Jimmy out and James let them buy him a $50,000 home on which, of a sudden, the Internal Revenue clipped him for $26,000 on the ground that the value represented income and was taxable as such.

This ruling seriously impugned Jimmy's method of acquiring the house from his loyal subjects and suggested coercion or a rigged resolution and vote, because if it had been a genuine gift it would have been non-taxable.

But James has a high capacity for disdain so he spurned the foul implication and paid the tax.

A FEW YEARS AGO, our James, having the Chicago taxpayers for the cultural boon of public concerts paid for out of taxes and received as wages by his people, invaded New York, a very audacious move, I assure you, won out over old Joe Webber, the aged national president, and took the job himself.

But James does not constitute a real menace. The real menace is found in the laws under which they operate with perfect security and statutory right.

Congress gave them these privileges, and Congress, alone, can revise and restrict them.

Jimmy just happened along in time to take his tide at the flood and now he is soaring high.

The act recently passed by the House and Senate to curb Jimmy's union alone and ignore the fundamental evils of the broader labor laws is one of pathetic cowardice mistaken for bravado.

Happiness—The troubles which Judy Buckley, English war stowaway, started for herself and American immigration authorities when she stowed away on a Boston-bound ship from Liverpool, ended in St. Thomas, Ont., where she rejoined her Canadian relatives, Betty and Mr. and Mrs. Rees Edwards. The girl was permitted to enter Canada after the relatives made a plea to Washington. Her parents will join the youngster on the Canadian farm. She opens first coconut she has ever seen.

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, March 15—A legend, fostered on Broadway and encouraged by its historians, has developed into a neat fallacy which eventually will result in the definition of a chorus girl in the slang dictionaries, and the definition will read: "A dumb chick." My advice to the lexicographers is this: add, in parentheses, "Dumb as a fox!"

Dorothy Kilgallen

The theatergoer is beaming these evenings at Judy Holliday's performance in "Born Yesterday." He chuckles at her malapropisms and chorties with the happy recognition of the hepster when she crosses the stage like a beautiful dimpled zombie. "Boy, oh boy!" he breathes. "A typical chorus girl!"

You can make a safe bet of a buck against a canceled bus transfer that this citizen never has been closer to a chorus girl than a ringside table.

I AM NOT pretending that chorus girls' brains work along strictly Quiz Kid lines, and it's true no show girl has (so far) become a cabinet member or Congresswoman—but give them time.

TALK TO a couple of the girls (or kids, as they are inevitably called by members of the night club profession) and you begin to see what I mean. Care to eavesdrop?

Bettina is a tall, lush redheaded show gal at the Carnival; her roommate is June, a tiny velvet-blonde chorus girl at the Copa. They arrived from Hollywood with purses to match their slender figures but with the wits of Wall Street financiers. They are very happy here. Hark.

June: "This is a wonderful town. It's like a fairy tale. All you do is ask a gentleman where you can buy sleeping pills and it's like a magic wand."

Bettina (confidingly): "That's how we got our apartment. If more people mentioned sleeping pills I bet they wouldn't have so much trouble getting apartments."

June: "I'll tell you where you meet very sympathetic gentlemen. Twenty One. Cocktails at Twenty One."

Bettina: "They're even more sympathetic at Reuben's about four in the morning."

June: "That's right. We got our apartment at Reuben's. You know how? Well, this very nice gentleman noticed that Bettina was looking kind of sad and he said very nicely to her: 'You ain't in the groove, honey. Something kicking you in the head?' So Bettina said she just couldn't sleep at all and did he know where she could get sleeping pills without a prescription because there aren't any doctors in Reuben's at four in the morning. There are fellows everybody calls Doc but they're makers."

Bettina: "I know four gentlemen called Doc. They're very kind."

June: "So right away this gentleman asks why Bettina can't sleep."

Bettina: "I just told him the truth. I said we were living in a little room in a W. 47th st. hotel and we had to get out in two days. The OPA, you know."

June: "He just gave out with a big laugh. Then he looked around to make sure no one would hear him and said: 'Baby, you can sleep tight tonight. I'll have an apartment for you tomorrow—I got a connection.'"

Bettina (gently): "He was such a sweet gentleman."

THAT TALKING DUCK OUT IN THE YARD IS UNCANNY— I WAS FEEDING IT WHEN IT SQUINTS AT THE SKY AND SAYS, "IT'S ABOUT TIME FOR MY WILD COUSINS TO BE HEADING NORTH!" Y'GOTTA BELIEVE ME, CHUM!
WHY SHOULDN'T I? EVERY MORNING WHEN I GO OUT FOR MY CAR IT SAYS TO ME, "YOU'VE GOT SOME EGG ON YOUR CHIN, PAL!"
STRANGE, IT DOESN'T UTTER A WORD WHILE I'M AROUND IT ALL DAY!
THEY'RE ALSO IN ON THE GAG—

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON March 15—At luncheon the other day, Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, 3d, said to Mr. Winston Churchill, our distinguished fiscal visitor:

"Do you prefer tea or coffee?"

"Either," responded Mr. Churchill, "but mostly I drink whisky!"

I HAVE BEEN trying to think up a new name for "Fellow Travelers," meaning those crums who always follow the Communist party line but will not admit they are out and out Commies.

"Fellow Travelers" is too dignified, too euphonious.

How about "deputy lice" or "assistant scum?"

BUSINESS AND bureaucracy put on a screwier act with each succeeding day. The other day a manufacturer's representative was arrested charged with trying to bribe a Civilian Production Administration official to help his company get some lead. When you have to bribe somebody just to be able to buy raw materials for your business, that's something.

But the following—from the same CPA—is even daffier:

This vestigial remain of the old War Production Board is beset day and night by manufacturers demanding more than their allotted quota. CPA is used to it and has erected defenses accordingly.

A couple of days ago, however, Herbert Rose, head of the textile division, met with representatives of the Hosiery Manufacturers' Ass'n. Rose and his assistant, E. Max Schenke, have prepared their figures carefully. They said they could allot the industry two million pounds of rayon yarn.

They expected the sock makers to let out a scream that they were being gypped; that they needed four million pounds, or eight million—or 12. But the manufacturers said never a word.

A day or two later, Schenke nearly fell backwards when Earl Constantine, president of the Hosiery Manufacturers Association, called him from New York and said blandly:

"About that two million pounds of rayon yarn—it's too much. We will need only half of that!"

IT TOOK a few minutes for Schenke to pull himself together. He asked Constantine to explain. Constantine got off a lot of noble phrases like "cooperation and understanding" and "not robbing Peter to pay Paul."

Finally, when Schenke was beginning to believe he had stumbled upon a veritable Sir Galahad of the business world, Constantine added—seemingly as an afterthought:

"And besides, we don't want to be loaded up with rayon when nylon comes back!"

I WAS OUT in Meadville, Pa., the other day, telling the Chamber of Commerce nothing they didn't already know about Washington, and dropped over to nearby Greenville to visit John L. Morrison, veteran publisher of the Record-Argus.

Mr. Morrison said his paper used to be a weekly but that it became a daily in 1898 because he gave up playing the trumpet.

"We used to put out our paper with those patent insides, or boilerplate," he said. "The front and back pages we made up ourselves, with local news and local ads.

"Well, I was playing the trumpet with the Greenville band one night when a murder was committed just north of town. I covered it—and decided to put out an extra, a thing we had never done before.

"The extra sold so well we had to use up all the boilerplate on hand for weeks to come. We found we didn't have a stick of boilerplate left—so we solved it by printing our own inside pages and becoming a daily.

"But," added Mr. Morrison, "the daily required so much effort I had to give up the trumpet. I am not prepared to state whether Greenville gained or lost on the deal."

"Couldn't you have got mad BEFORE I bought you a soda?"

SEN. CLAUDE PEPPER of Florida was addressing an open-air meeting in Chiefland, Fla., recently when a huge, truculent-looking fellow in workman's garb arose from the audience and bore down upon him.

"I got nervous because I thought I detected distinct hostility," said the Senator, "but I kept on speaking.

"The fellow kept on coming—and I pretended not to notice his approach. Finally he got within half a foot of me—and suddenly thrust out a large, hairy hand.

"'Senator,' he said, 'I'm sorry I can't stay any longer, but the old truck broke down and I've got to get it fixed. But I just wanted to tell you that I'm for you!"

Boston After Dark

SUCCESS OF "WEEKEND at the Waldorf" (an MGM picture) has inspired another major studio to go and do likewise (or as nearly "likewise" as one picture of a provedly successful theme can resemble another) . . . Because the negotiations center around Boston, the picture under negotiation has local interest.

The tentative title is "Royalty at the Ritz," and the Ritz-Carlton Hotels (Paris, Boston and New York) figure in the story-line . . . The picture is semi-biographical and because it tells part of the "The Story of Caesar Ritz," which is published in book form, a picture company must go through the necessary preliminaries to "clear" rights to the story with all living relatives and heirs of the one-time modest little chef who was the moving genius in founding the now-famous Ritz-Carlton Hotels.

IN USING THE TITLE "Ritz," however, a motion picture studio has an added chore of "clearing" rights to that title as it bears on hotels entitled to use the name . . . In Florida last week, a United States District Court decided that the Hotels Ritz-Carlton in Boston and New York had the exclusive right to use of the name . . . Joseph Mulhern, the Boston attorney, represented the Boston and New York hotels . . . These celebrated hostelries brought suit to restrain a Miami Beach-front hotel, once named Grossinger's, from being called the Ritz-Carlton.

WHATEVER HAS HAPPENED to Father Divine?, Robert Bushnell? Art (Whataman!) Shires?

SEEN AT the Shoreham, Washington: Mrs. Mary Posner, the Boston haberdasher, hostess to Dr. Kathleen Spellman McLaurin, Dr. Robert McLaurin, Dr. Robert Spellman, and Michael J. Ward, of the Boston school committee . . . At the Stork, New York: Margaret-Ellen Burke of Brookline, daughter of William "Billy" Burke, the Boston wool broker, and Ens. Sam Waughn of Andover. At the Villa Nova, Boston: Pretty Peggy French, of "Voice of the Turtle," and an unidentified escort—a handsome gent of the slightly-bald species . . . At the Sheraton's Baroque Room, Worcester—listening to the good music of Joe Marsala's band (from Boston): Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Henderson. (Mr. Henderson is prominent in the Sheraton Corp., which operates the Sheraton, formerly the Bancroft.) At the Lafayette Lounge, (a "class" saloon with atmosphere): Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bryce Bell. Mr. Bell—we have just learned—is managing director of the Lafayette in addition to his duties as managing director of the re-opened Hotel Somerset.

PREDICTION: Franco's case will have a special pleader in the near future, and the words will come from a dignitary of such high repute that they will be important words in the 'script of the international drama now being written . . . All records at both Boston ballparks will go by the boards this coming season, and the Red Sox will be leading the A. L. pack on Labor Day.

ANNE RUSSELL, the pretty vocalist with Jerry Wald's band at the Rio Casino, is the best impersonator in the younger crop of good entertainers . . . Her imitation of Sophie Tucker is very, very good . . . Pat Rooney really "knocks himself out" at the Gay Nineties, and the grand old entertainer seems more youthful than he has seemed in years . . . Pat will ride with John Wenzler in the St. Patrick's Day Parade in South Boston . . . Eddie Davis, boss of the Fox and Hounds Club, is in Hot Springs . . . Walter Finn, formerly manager of the Rhumba Casino, is in Arizona for a vacation . . . The Noble and King concert in Jordan Hall has been set definitely for May 12.

AND ANOTHER Mr. Strauss comes to Boston: Oscar Strauss, composer of "The Chocolate Soldier," will direct the "Strauss Festival" at Symphony Hall a week from Sunday, and the demand for seats is brisk . . . Compositions of all three Strausses, Oscar, Johann and Joseph, comprise the program . . . On April 2, Jose Iturbi and Jose's sister, Ampora, will play their first public two-piano recital together.

COURTNEY BURR SETS an example for the Broadway producers in acknowledging a bit of help after his show has left town . . . Writes Mr. Burr, in part: (after saying some words of thanks): "I am looking forward to a return engagement at the Grotto in your North End. Their brand of Italian cuisine is really tops . . . As for the Ritz-Carlton—you can use this in your column—it stands in a class by itself . . . In my opinion it is the leading hotel in the country, and Mr. Henry Francis is a great boniface" . . . Courtney will have a new play ready for a fall opening in Boston, but if arrangements can be made, he will stage a tryout first at the Cape Playhouse, in Dennis.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 15—I love the sequel to the story about Ethel Hill whose War Knight won last Saturday's $100,000 handicap. Do you think Louis B. Mayer, who also had a thoroughbred in that race, was upset that his scenario writer won the heavy sugar?

Well, this doesn't sound very much like it. Today he sent for her and I told her to write the story of the horse who had everything the matter with him and still, just like in the movies, jumped home first.

June Allyson

They'll call the story "Hundred Grand" and it will be made on the scale of "National Velvet" in Technicolor. Charming little Elizabeth Taylor will again be the star and Ralph Wheelwright, who is to produce the story, has already set the story in motion.

THAT OLD Hollywood bugaboo of marriages—one career forging ahead of the other, won't be worrying June Allyson and Dick Powell in 1946. It's true that June is one of M-G-M's up and coming babies—but RKO isn't letting Dick lag behind. They've just bought Richard Brooks' novel, "The Brick Foxhole," for him—and it gives Dick something entirely different from his hard "Murder My Sweet" and also from his next, for Harriet Parsons, "A Very Remarkable Fellow." In this latest Powell purchase he's a young officer who yearns for active duty, but who is assigned to a desk job in a "brick foxhole" in Washington.

VIRGINIA MAYO will meet herself coming and going at the same Goldwyn studio. She's starting two pictures simultaneously for her boss, come April 1. She'll play a dramatic role in "The Best Years of Our Lives," formerly "Glory For Me," and then she'll have the lead opposite Danny Kaye in "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty." She's Danny's dream girl in his movie, and just the opposite in "The Best Years of Our Lives." By that I mean she's a girl that isn't so nice. Of course, Virginia is really always a dream girl, because she is so beautiful.

SUNDAY IS a big day in the parish of the Good Shepherd Church, where so many of our film stars go to mass, and a happy day for their beloved pastor, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick J. Concannon. On that day, the Most Rev. John J. Cantwell will invest him in the robes of domestic prelate. The service is held at 5 o'clock at the church. This will be followed by a reception at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel and a dinner, where he will be greeted by his many friends, including motion picture favorites Irene Dunne, Loretta Young, Rosalind Russell, June Haver, John Carroll and Dick Haymes, who will be present.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: I was called from the dinner table and told that pretty Elena Verdugo and Charles Marion, Universal scenario writer, had engaged a plane to elope to Las Vegas. I went back to dinner and before I had finished my coffee I was called again to hear that Universal had said, "No, no, no!"

—Richter—Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

"We'll have two cups of coffee—a clean tablecloth and several sharp pencils!"

Elena is playing in a picture there and couldn't take time off to get married now. So the plane was cancelled, the two went back to work, but in three weeks when she finishes they'll get married right here in town.

CORRECT ME and I'll stand in a corner if I wasn't the first to tell you that Donna Reed would be Jimmy Stewart's heartbeat in "It's a Wonderful Life" for Frank Capra. Well, the deal was signed last night for Donna to go off the M-G-M reserve—and, incidentally, it is the first time she has been "loaned" to another company since she's been under contract. Loanouts are often lucky for players and this may be Donna's turn to hit the big time. Also in the line up for this same movie are Thomas Mitchell (he helps anybody's movie) and Henry Travers—who never hurts anything himself.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Dolores Del Rio's latest is Manolete, world champion bull fighter. He sends her the ears of the animals he kills each day—just a good old Spanish custom of saying "I love you"; Evelyn Finley, former world champion cowgirl, and Capt. William George, her husband, are expecting a baby this summer; Brenda Helser is seeing Johnny Weissmuller again, but not in any romantic way. She's merely his pupil and he's training her for a try at the world's swimming championship; Ruth Leslie Howard, Leslie's daughter, will be the house guest of the William Gargans. She's now in Canada; Barry Fitzgerald, who was 59 years old last Sunday, is singing a duet with Bing Crosby in "Welcome Stranger." "But," says Barry, "no Irish Eyes Are Smilin' nor folk songs. A torch song, if you please." So one is being written by the Crosby writers; Jeff Donnell had a red letter day. She got a 1946 vacuum cleaner with all the attachments. Her option was picked up at Columbia and she won on a horse named Lucky Sal!

JEANETTE MacDONALD and Gene Raymond took a group of us to hear Jean Sablon at Ciro's. The party honored Ben Lyon, who left yesterday for England. How the time did fly! Gracie and George, the Lew Schreibers, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rubin were in the party. Jeanette wore a new hat that all the gals wanted to snatch right off her head, it was so smart; Tom Lewis is getting a lot of kidding, and from his beautiful wife, Loretta Young, too. He's on the cover of Radio and Television Magazine, and his bride is calling him "Cover Boy"; Sammy Lewis, of Slapsy Maxie's, is back from New York and while there he signed Milton Berle, Bert Wheeler, Willie Howard, George and Gene Bernard and Jackie Gleason for forthcoming shows at his theater-restaurant; Edward Nassour and Sharon Douglas are very happeeee now that April's almost here and she's back in town; Baby Rose Marie, former child star who is now singing at the Copacabana in New York, is engaged to marry Bobby Guy of the Army and a former musician with Kay Kyser's orchestra. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Chicago Saves St. Patrick's Day

CHICAGO, March 15 (AP)—The Irish-Americans of Chicago—and there are thousands—almost lost St. Patrick's Day to the Hungarians yesterday when an Irishman, Kelly by name, got his dates mixed.

But Kelly—Mayor Edward J.—made a neat recovery.

It all started at a city council meeting when a proclamation issued by his honor declaring Sunday Hungarian Day in Chicago was read. The proclamation paid lavish tribute to the contributions made to Chicago and the nation by persons of Hungarian origin.

The council—many of its members are of Irish descent—passed the proclamation without dissent. Ten minutes later Corp. Counsel Barnet Hodes rushed into the chamber and conferred with Kelly. Aldermen William McKenna and Bryan Hartnett joined in the huddle.

Kelly asked the council to reconsider and make March 18 Hungarian Day. He continued:

"For 15 centuries March 17 has been observed in honor of the Patron Saint of Ireland—St. Patrick. I hereby proclaim that date as St. Patrick's Day in Chicago."

The council approved.

CONSTIPATED TODAY?

You Need Not Be AFTER 35...IF—

You follow this common sense advice. Nature has placed a marvelous hydrogel substance in apples, prunes and many foods to help you keep regular. As you grow older, you may need more of these foods, but you eat less. That is why thousands of folks over 35 have turned to Serutan. Serutan is a concentrate of hydrogel substances —not a pill, not salts, not an oil, but an all vegetable preparation that provides a smooth, soft jell to aid more normal, natural elimination. Why dose yourself with harsh purgative or habit forming drugs when it is so easy to enjoy the tasty, toast-like granules of Serutan right along with your meals? Sold by all drug stores on a money-back guarantee. For your own sake, start using Serutan today!

*For organic constipation, see a doctor.

Goering Admits Art Thefts, War Horror

NUERNBERG, March 15 (INS)—A tale of war and plunder was told in obvious pride by Goering today. He made no secret of the fact he rifled palaces and art museums for his private benefit and that of Hitler.

He said:

"I was responsible for the bombing of Warsaw, Rotterdam and Coventry.

"I ordered the bombing of Belgrade.

"I ordered annihilation of the Polish air force.

"All the towns destroyed were near to airfields and the Warsaw fortress."

Of Belgrade's destruction he said:

"Belgrade was the nerve center of Yugoslavian resistance. Its bombing was of greatest consequence."

Concerning the invasion of Yugoslavia:

"The Germans went in to rescue Italy from threatening disaster."

Goering also said a revolutionary movement led by Constantin Simovich in Belgrade, with connivance of Moscow, removed the "last doubts" from Hitler's mind Invasion of Russia was "imperative."

Previously he admitted he stocked his art collection with treasures.

"I was a passionate collector," he said, "but Hitler demanded a preview of photographs of the objects. He often took them himself."

Ambushed British Convoy Back at Base

BATAVIÁ, March 15 (AP)—The British supply convoy which battled its way 60 miles when ambushed last Sunday on the road from Soekboemi to Bandoeng, reached its destination last night. British spokesman attributed the attack to "lack of control of irresponsible elements of the Indonesian forces."

The convoy and relief columns sent to rescue lost 12 killed and 78 wounded. A number of tanks and vehicles were lost.

Peck o' Trouble

SPRINGFIELD, Minn., March 15 (AP)—Sparrows that nested in a 102-foot brick chimney at a brick and tile plant are being blamed for its collapse.

Company officials said constant pecking at mortar in the chimney by the sparrows apparently weakened it so it was a victim of a gust of wind.

priority over the loyalty owed by them to their own country and, for that reason, they acted as they did and would have continued so to act had they not been detected," the commission said.

In addition to Boyer, the commission named these:

Harold Samuel Gerson, assistant to the head of the production control department of Allied War Supplies, Ltd., a government company concerned with the production of chemicals and explosions. Gerson was known in the spy ring under the cover name of "Gray," the report said.

Squadron Leader Matt Simons Nightingale, employed as a telephone technician in the contruction of military airports by the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Dr. David Shugar, a Ph.D. in physics at McGill University, who was employed in the Navy on research in anti-submarine detection. He used the undercover name of "Prometheus," the commission reported.

The commission gave no indication of how much information the suspects were accused of actually transmitting to the Soviet Union.

Apparently replying to widespread criticism over the holding of 13 suspects without the usual rights of habeas corpus, the commission said it had followed this course because "the matters with which the inquiry was concerned appear to us to be of so serious a nature from a national standpoint" and because of the "exceptional circumstances existing."

"The further evidence which we hav heard has not caused us to change this view, but on the contrary has confirmed it," the commission said.

"The evidence has revealed the existence of an organization constituting at least a threat to the safety and interest of the state."

The commission said it "was unable to accept" Nightingale's explanations of interviews he had had with Soviet agents.

It said Dr. Shugar, a native of Poland, had denied giving any secret information "but had no explanation" for references to him in messages transmitted by the espionage network.

"We are not impressed by the demeanor of Shugar or by his denial, which we do not accept," the commission said "In our view, we think he knows more than he was prepared to disclose. Therefore, there would seem to be no answer on the evidence before us to a charge of conspiring to communicate secret information to an agent of the U. S. S. R."

The report said Tass, official Soviet news agency, was in the Moscow-directed network.

It said that some of the secret information was transmitted through Nicolai Zheivinov, former head of Tass' bureau in Ottawa, who went home to Russia last fall.

The commission reported it had heard 48 witnesses in 44 settings.

"We are of the opinion that should these persons (held in the inquiry) be allowed communication with outsiders or between themselves until their activitics have been fully investigated, some of the basic purposes of the inquiry would be entirely defeated," the commission said.

Squadron Leader Nightingale was reported by the commission to have attended a military school in Mobile, Ala., before going to McGill University, from which he was graduated with an engineering degree in 1928.

The Royal Commission's first report, made public March 4, accused Mrs. Emma Woikin, Capt. Gordon Lunan, Edward W. Mazerall and Miss Kathleen Mary Willsher as participants in the ring, all charged with conspiracy.

Rose entered no plea on his arraignment. He was remanded under $10,000 bail for hearing March 22.

Rose was born in Lublin, Poland, of naturalized Canadian parents and came to Canada at the age of 12. He joined the Young Communist League in 1925.

As a member of the executive committee of the "Young Communist International," he worked in Russia for six months addressing youth rallies in Stalingrad and Rostov.

He was elected to commons in a bye-election in August, 1943, from a Montreal constituency and was re-elected last June.

Suffolk Vet Students Rap College Curbs

A hundred veterans studying at Suffolk University held an impromptu protest meeting today, charging 6000 of their World War II buddies are being denied privilege of a college education through mistaken action of the State Board of Collegiate Authority.

"Suffolk could educate at least 6000 of the 30,000 GI's now being turned away from other colleges," Joseph Alecks, Buttonwood st., Dorchester, declared. "But the board has denied certification under the GI Bill of Rights to the school's College of Liberal Arts, Journalism and Business Administration. State Checkup Of Cars in April

Motor Vehicles Registrar King announced today Massachusetts, returning to semi-annual inspection of automobiles, would have a rigid checkup in April.

King said "all that has been said before about the age of automobiles, about defective tires, brakes and other equipment applies now more than ever."

There was unanimous agreement among safety authorities, he continued, that the highway death and accident rate would reach an all time high in 1946 unless motorists and pedestrians were educated to the great danger that confronts highway users.

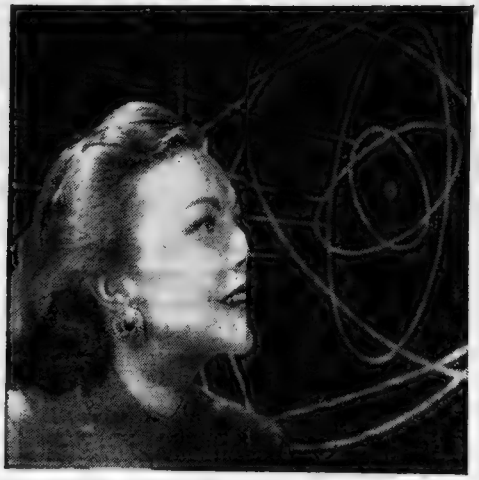
Beauty 1946 Girl Called Vibrant Fashion



TODAY'S modern goddess . . . joyously alive, aware and vital . . . inspired a noted beauty house to create a new, flattering matched make-up to give a warm opalescent glow to the face and a rose-red to the lips. A warm and exciting change from the make-up shades of past years . . . it feminizes a complexion in the decreed 1946 manner.

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

EACH ERA DEVELOPS its own word-symbol for the beauty ideal. Remember "flapper" and "oomph" and "it" or don't you want to date yourself? In the past few years the word has been "glamorous" . . . and we admit we've done our share in overplaying its worth . . . however descriptive it may be.

Now "glamorous" has long since become a tired, hackneyed and misfitting term to apply to the live, aware and vital modern goddess of this brave new world. A successor, then? Certainly! The word is vibrant.

And that's the word that should describe American femininity of this present-day vintage. Women earned the right to be called vibrant . . . and now they should look like what it means . . . pulsing, animated, vigorous, aware, keen with a natural, robust vivacity that befits our return to gracious living.

Fittingly enough . . . a noted beauty house has created a set of four color-related beauty aids that are dedicated to this new brave look for the new brave woman in this world for better living. It is a scintillating-pink makeup that does something for every woman . . . and is particularly appealing to the girl who craves the ultimate in makeup.

Because the clear, pink look is in keeping with the natural look . . . the schoolgirl complexion grown up . . . this new "vibrant" makeup is a warm and exciting change from the make-up shades of the past few years. To adopt and adapt it is to prove a gal's rugged individualism . . . that she's out of the cosmetic rut of beauty triteness and embarked on a new and more exciting adventure.

For this makeup is convincingly suggestive of a new feminine vitality. It has in its glow the young, fresh and pink delectableness of peach blossoms for your face and the pure red of the rose for your lips. The luminous quality is so subtle that it is bound to add flattery to all types of skin.

In a charming transparent cellophane box you'll find delicately scented face powder, a miracle-working cream base, rouge in a neat metal compact and lipstick in a matching metal case. The entire gamut . . . with its "secret" for giving a new opalescent glow to any face . . . is only $2.25. Not much for beauty, is it?

For the name of this new era "vibrant" makeup, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DOUBLE-BREASTED and man-tailored . . . but feminine and slimming . . . is this navy and white striped coat from Molly's spring collection. The flaring gauntlet cuffs, the side-slit pockets and the high-notched collar make it unmistakably new season. The head-hugging unusual navy turban . . . severe but stunning for the right-type face . . . is by Dache—R. M.

Should Woman Put Up With Bad Bargain in Husband?

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

WHEN A GIRL deliberately marries a man who she has good reason to believe will make her a worthless husband, should she put up with her bad bargain or get rid of him when he lives up to his reputation?

That's the problem facing the writer of the following letter:

"DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

"I am a young girl of 24, married to a man of 20 and about to become a mother. I guess I should be very happy, but I'm not.

"Now please don't misunderstand me. I am really happy about the baby. I'm so excited I can hardly wait. But my real problem is my husband. I was forced to leave him when I was five months pregnant, because he stayed out nights leaving me alone and never returning till the wee hours of the morning.

"Since I left him, he has never tried to get in touch with me in any way. Sometimes I wonder how I could ever have loved a man who was so mean to me. He always claimed he loved me, but I think he has a funny way of showing it. I am so disgusted that my marriage turned out to be such a failure I don't know which way to turn. I am so ashamed to face my family and friends, but they all understand.

"What I really would like to know is, would you advise me to divorce this man after the baby is born? I don't think he will ever change. I have known him for the past seven years, and have been married to him for the past 19 months. I knew all his faults, the way he liked the women also, so I guess I have no one to blame but myself. But I married him because I loved him. Now I wonder. "DISGUSTED."

Knowing that there's no one but our own self to blame for our unhappiness isn't very much consolation, is it, "Disgusted?" But it does help, sometimes, in making us able to look at our problem more clearly. At least we don't start out befuddled by the mistaken idea that we can shift responsibility to someone else.

You loved this man so much that you were willing to marry him and take the long chance that things might turn out better than deep in your heart you thought they would. Thousands of other women have done that before you. No doubt you believed your love could change him; make him over into the kind of person you wanted him to be.

Some women keep right on loving a man who has shown himself to be worthless. And paradoxically, they're happier being miserable with him than they would be without him. They pay an exorbitant price in tears and suffering for sticking with him, but in some queer way they evidently consider it worth paying.

But I don't think you're that kind. I think you're too disillusioned to love your husband any more or to cling to any hope that you'll ever find any happiness with him. So a divorce, or at least a separation, would seem to me to be your only answer to the problem, so that you can begin to make a new life for yourself and your child. And you're not likely to make the same mistake again.

Hold That Door Is Good Manners

Almost on the low level of the unmannerly person who lets the door fly back in the face of the person following, is the one who lets one polite person hold the door open while he or she (it's usually a "queenie") sneaks through, taking no door-holding responsibility whatever for the person following.

Puffed-Up Sleeves

By BETTINA BEDWELL

I KEEP TELLING you about sleeves because they are such big items in making the new spring styles. They are all puffed up with fashion importance, and women who follow the new styles can't afford to ignore them.

With padding reduced in sleeve and shoulder lines, the big sleeves give a soft width that is compensating. It is also much more attractive to most figures.

Not only are sleeves big; they are likely also to be decorated, as in the smart dress in our sketch. This black sheer crepe dress from Louis Barnes Gallagher has big sleeves worn pushed up from the wrists, and they are trimmed with white pipings that make stripes from the top almost down to the elbows. The body lines of the dress are slim, and it closes on buttons.

St. Patrick's Dinner Treat

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

IF EVER THERE was an occasion that dictated its own fun, it's the "great day for the Irish"—St. Patrick's Day. Parades, familiar Irish tunes and the wearin' of the green set the gay mood, and with that beginning a party can't help but be a success.

Here is a menu that's "tops" for St. Patrick's Day:

MENU

Fruit Juice
Corned Beef with Vegetables
Green Salad
Peanut Butter Chiffon Pie
Coffee

CORNED BEEF WITH VEGETABLES

4 lbs. brisket corned beef
6 pared medium potatoes
6 pared medium carrots
1 pared yellow turnip or 6 medium-sized whole white turnips
1 medium cabbage

Wipe off the corned beef, cover with cold water, bring to a boil, and boil 5 minutes. Remove scum, then cover and simmer until tender, allowing about 3 hours. About 45 minutes before completion of cooking, skim all excess fat from the meat stock, then add the potatoes, the carrots, and the turnip cut into pieces. Cover and cook 15 minutes. Then on top of meat and other vegetables, lay the cabbage, quartered and cored. Cover and continue cooking 30 minutes longer or until vegetables are tender. If desired, beets may be cooked separately to serve with the corned beef. Serve the corned beef on a large platter, surrounded with the vegetables, arranged with an eye to color. Serve with bottled horseradish, chili sauce or mustard pickle. Makes 6 servings.

PEANUT BUTTER CHIFFON PIE

1 envelope gelatin (1 tbsp.)
1 cup cold water
2 egg yolks, well beaten
½ cup peanut butter
½ tsp. salt 2 egg whites
1 baked pie shell (½ pastry recipe) ½ tsp. vanilla
⅓ cup sugar or light corn syrup

Soften gelatin in ¼ cup water. Blend egg yolks, ½ of the sugar or corn syrup, ¼ cup water, and salt, in top of double boiler; add gelatin. Place over boiling water; beat constantly with rotary beater until thick and fluffy. Cool. Place peanut butter in bowl and add remaining water gradually, beating until smooth. Add egg mixture and vanilla; blend with beater. Chill until slightly thickened. Beat egg whites until foamy; add remaining sugar or corn syrup gradually, beating until stiff. Fold into chilled mixture. Turn into baked pie shell (or crumb crust); chill. If desired, serve topped with chopped nuts or sweetened whipped cream. This recipe makes filling for one 9-inch pie.

● FLAKY PASTRY

2⅓ cups sifted all-purpose flour ⅔ cup shortening ¾ tsp. salt
About 5 tbsp. cold or ice water

Sift flour and salt together. Cut in shortening with two knives used in a crisscross motion, or with a pastry blender, until particles are the size of small peas. Now sprinkle the water, a few drops at a time, over the mixture, working it in lightly with a fork until all particles are moistened and in small lumps. Add only enough water to make the pastry form a ball on the end of the fork. The less water you use the more tender your pastry is likely to be. The pastry is now ready to roll out, using a rolling pin with light, quick strokes. Or better still, wrap the pastry in waxed paper, and chill in a covered refrigerator dish for an hour or longer. Chilled pastry is much easier for the inexperienced person to handle.

Tamborini Backers Give Up Election Hope

BUENOS AIRES, March 15 (INS)—Supporters of Dr. Jose Tamborini's candidacy for the Argentine presidency virtually abandoned all hope of his election today as counting of ballots remained unfinished.

No official statement conceding the election to Col. Juan Peron was issued, but Democratic Party headquarters was convinced that the "Strong Man" had won the presidency.

The Bandit of Sherwood

Thrills Throng at Loew's

By PEGGY DOYLE

Strictly ersatz in so far as previous film incarnations are concerned, Columbia's actionful, Technicolorful swashbuckler, "The Bandit of Sherwood Forest," is proving to be theater-packing entertainment at Loew's twin theaters.

The spring-feverish customers appeared to swallow its essentially Hollywood-festooned framework of story with considerable relish.

If handsome Cornel Wilde, as Robin Hood's outlaw son, Robert of Nottingham, has not the magnetism and chamois-like agility of the first Douglas Fairbanks, whose cinematic swashbuckling will forever live on in memory, he does have a persuasive charm, masculine grace and acting skill that earmark his portrayal with authority.

Young Doug Fairbanks, who proposes to star in his own productions of romantic adventure yarns of the type associated with his late father, has the answer for the hold-outs for carbon-copy performances.

Brushing aside the suggestion that perhaps he intends to "follow in his father's footsteps," he said the other day "that would be impossible . . . His footsteps were so light, they left no trace for anyone to follow."

Altogether, the picture has a great deal of flavor and realism, including a modish makeup and hairdo for Anita Louise's faultlessly groomed Maid Marion that are as hep as this Easter's bonnets.

For the vacation-minded it is a synthetic passport into a world of high adventure, storybook romance, base villainy and freedom from desk-slavery and all the other earthbound entanglements of modern civilization.

There are excellent performances by Henry Daniell as a knavish throne-chiseler and by Edgar Buchanan, Lloyd Corrigan, Jill Esmond and others.

There is no telling where George Sherman's direction ended and Henry Levin's began, but they have managed to keep this imaginative film story at a fleet pace throughout the unreeling. Leonard S. Picker and Clifford Sanforth are to be congratulated on the lavish and tasteful production.

'Annie Get Your Gun' Coming to Shubert

Such is the magic of the names of Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein, 2d., producers; Irving Berlin, composer; Ethel Merman, star; Herbert and Dorothy Fields, authors of the book, and Ray Middleton, leading man that the entire Shubert Theatre in New Haven was sold out by mail order for the four-performance engagement of "Annie Get Your Gun" within three days after the March 10 newspaper "ad"

'Poet of Piano' Now in Person At RKO-Boston

By DON WARD

Carmen Cavallaro, called "The Poet of the Piano," appears in person at RKO-Boston now—and the house manager says it's a great relief from the regular run of bands who try to blow the roof off.

From which it is indicated that the Cavallaro orchestra goes in for softness and lilt.

Even in the bang-bang passages the boys temper the tones to the more sensitive ear—and the result is just as pleasing, for the customers whistle and stamp their approval all the same.

Mr. Cavallaro's poetizing at the piano is more like gymnatics than esthetics, but it is good musicianly playing, excepting for a two frequent use of the sliding thumb—the poor man's glissando.

Of course Mr. Cavallaro played the Chopin A-flat Polonaise, in the jazz-band manner, and the Warsaw Concerto in the same way. And the crowd loved it. They went for the rest of the stage show in a big way, as they well might, for it is highly entertaining.

The Acromaniacs are three tumblers who take the house. And Coley Worth is a balding gentleman who threatens to play the violin, but clowns around most ludicrously instead.

Gloria Foster and Frank Gallagher do the vocals with the band. They liked Mr. Gallagher especially, even though he did drag out the tempo outrageously. But what ballad singer doesn't these days?

The band numbers include "Simple Life," "You Won't Be Satisfied," "I Can't Begin To Tell You" and "It Might As Well Be Spring."

On the screen is "Idea Girl," with Jess Barker, Julie Bishop, Alan Mowbray and Charlie Barnet and his orchestra.

JUNIOR COLONY BRINGS OUT "PETITE POINT" FASHIONS

What's a junior? She's the gal who wears size 9, 11, 13 or 17—because it fits! Yes, she's a size—not an age! She's a teen ager, she's a matron—her hair is honey, or slightly gray—she's a junior! And Coleman's "petite point" fashions bring out her best points in the most fashionable, sleek fitting way. That aralac checked dress, for example, or the all wool coat you see above with its wonderful details and lovely lines.

John Langlois were on a court for the first time this week and they just couldn't pop them in as in the Tech games.

Westfield just survived by a miracle shot by Paul Gallo in the final minute of play against a sparkling Pawtucket East (R. I.) five. Westfield had climbed uphill throughout, catching its clever rivals near the close of the third period but dropping back again as the clock advanced.

Westfield's rally caught the Rhode Island team in the final minute and then coach ahead. Coach Bill Moge's crew, off that nifty exhibition that had the fans on edge, must be rated favorite over Nashua. Although lacking a six-footer in the lineup, Westfield has the class and balance in Irvin Larese, John Daly, Ray Fisher, Angie Fioroni and Gallo to step into the finals.

In the other bracket, Hillhouse High, defending champion, will retain its edge as the tourney favorite over Springfield, Vt. Coach Lou Bender's outfit has the floor finesse as it proved in ringing up its one-sided 52-13 margin over a thunderstruck Edward Little five from Auburn, Me.

Prof. Paul Waner Is Coaching Metko

By HERB FINNEGAN

SARASOTA, Fla., March 15—Paul Waner, Sarasota resident, is a student of batting. Any big leaguer who makes 3000 hits is bound to be. And there's nothing he likes better than talk his favorite topic into young ball players. He's been doing that with the Red Sox while waiting for his Miami club to start training on March 15.

"Metkovich," he was telling the boys, "should be r great hitter. There's no apparent reason why he doesn't rank with Williams and Wakefield at the top of the list. He's got all the physical qualifications."

Metko hove into view. "Sit down," said Waner, and Metko complied.

"I was watching you today and you were bobbing," Waner began. "You're taking your eye off the ball just before you take your cut. That's bad. Watch Williams. He keeps his head steady every second. That little dip of the head is enough to make you foul balls when you should be hitting into the stands."

They talked on, of chasing bad pitches, etc. "Your right elbow should be your guide," said Waner. "Keep it shoulder high and never swing at any pitch above it. Above all: Always be expecting the fastest pitch you possible. When you're set for the fast one, a curve won't fool you because it's slower. And don't try to pull change-ups posite field or through the box."

On they went, Metko drinking in every word with rookies Pellagrini and Steiner, who felt proud to sit at the old master's knee.

Waner has corrected many a batter's fault. When Vin DiMaggio was enjoying his best years with Pittsburgh he gave full credit to Waner for correcting a hip drop that had Di Mag upper-cutting the ball. If he can correct Metko's fault, no matter how slight, the Sox will have their best outfield since Hooper, Speaker and Lewis.

Metko is built like Williams, has a good arm and is faster afoot. Why he hasn't blossomed into a .350 hitter has puzzled more than one manager. Del Bissonette, who up on Jim at Hartford, Bob Coleman didn't improve him much at Evansville. But he enjoyed a banner season under Lefty O'Doul at San Francisco, and the Sox paid a big price for him.

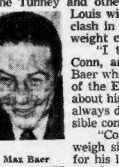
Baer Joins Growing List Of 'Louis by KO' Backers

By JACK CONWAY

NEW YORK, March 15—Max Baer, former heavyweight champion of the world, today joined forces with Gene Tunney and other ring celebrities who believe Joe Louis will knock out Billy Conn when they clash in their 15-round bout for the heavyweight championship here in June.



Max Baer

"I think Louis punches too hard for Conn, and will win by a knockout," said Baer when this writer met him in the lobby of the Edison Hotel. "Louis has also gone about his training in a serious manner as he always does, and he will be in the best possible condition when he enters the ring.

"Conn has put on weight. He will weigh six to ten pounds more than he did for his last bout with Louis. At that time, Billy was 175 pounds. The extra weight may slow Conn down. Conn was never much of a hitter. He was more of a boxer, and the extra weight will not add a great deal to his hitting ability. "One either can punch or he cannot. It is not entirely a matter of weight."

Baer was dressed in gray sports clothes, and he looked as if life were treating him well.

"Maxie Rosenbloom and myself are appearing at the Club 18," said Max. "We are getting $4250 for our act which gives us $2125 each. Not bad for a couple of former fighters."

I asked Baer if he had saved much of his ring earnings which included a cut of a $1,000,000 gate when he fought Joe Louis.

"Ancil Hoffman, who used to be my manager, established a $225,000 annuity for me out of my ring earnings," said Baer. "I am now receiving a substantial sum each month from this annuity.

"I still have plenty of earning powers as I am proving during my tour with Maxie Rosenbloom. In addition, I work for RKO for three weeks each summer and get $1500 a week.

"I am no longer a playboy. Mrs. Baer and myself have three wonderful children, and I am planning ahead for the future of my family."

Baer Could Punch

It is natural that Baer should go along with Louis in the coming bout. Max felt the power of Louis' punch while he was also a good belter himself when at his best in his prime. This writer always felt that Baer's punch had much to do with the unfortunate ring ending of Ernie Schaaf. Baer knocked Schaaf out in Chicago before the Carnera bout. Baer never got credit for the kayo as the finishing blow was landed with only five seconds to go in the closing round.

In a previous bout, Schaaf had defeated Baer in the New York Garden. Baer was particularly strong body puncher and, when in condition, he could take a punch.

Baer won the championship from Primo Carnera and lost it to Jimmy Braddock. The latter was well on his way out as a leading boxer when he took the championship. Baer's refusal to follow the proper rules of training caused his ring downfall.

Max told me that Ancil Hoffman has retired and that he is living on his ranch in California. Hoffman managed many bouts down through the years, but the Baer brothers, Max and Buddy, were the only ones to gain national standing. Buddy Baer, a few years ago, made a good showing against Louis in a tussle in Washington, but was later chilled by Louis in New York.

This is another reason why Max respects Louis' terrific hitting powers.

Random Shots at Target

New York hotels are trying to get tied in with business . . . Pan American has just closed a deal by which 100 of its employees will have accommodations each night at the Edison Hotel . . . Hotel managers in New York feel they must now have customers, they can rely on at all times . . . The New York hotels have also agreed to help furnish accommodations for service men in this city on education work . . . There is an acute shortage of rooms here with people trying to make reservations months ahead.

Clubs Seem to Be Ducking 3d Place in NHL

By FRED HOEY

The dizzy race for play-offs berths in the National Hockey League race continues unabated. Last night's results added a bit more fire and uncertainty to the confused state of affairs. Red Wings turned on the Hawks, 7 to 2, while Toronto held the Canadiens to a 2 to 2 tie.

The collective fingers of Art Ross, Dit Clapper and their band of Bruins are crossed awaiting the outcome of the Hawks game in Montreal tomorrow night. Meanwhile, Detroit, which was plastered, 9 to 4, by the Hawks in Chicago Wednesday night, becomes a dangerous threat.

Here's the situation. The Canadiens are in. They can't be overcome. The battle for second, third and fourth places is something else again. The Bruins hold second place by one point over the Hawks. Detroit, by winning last night, is in fourth spot only one point behind the Hawks.

N. H. L. STANDING

Team	W	L	T	Pts	For	Against
1 Montreal	27	14	5	59	181	122
2 BOSTON	23	18	8	54	162	122
3 Chicago	23	18	8	54	152	122
4 Detroit	20	18	10	50	136	141
5 Toronto	17	24	7	41	154	166
6 New York	12	28	9	33	136	186

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS
Maple Leafs 2, Canadiens 2.
Red Wings 7, Blackhawks 2.

The Bruins have one more game to play, Chicago in the Boston Garden, Sunday night. Before this battle, Chicago has to meet Canadiens in Montreal, Saturday night. Detroit has home-and-home games with Toronto, in Toronto, Saturday night, and in Detroit Sunday night.

Bruins, Hawks and Wings are not keen to meet the Canadiens in the first round of the play-offs. The Canadiens are due to meet the team finishing third. The other teams don't fancy that third place. Hence, fingers-crossing Bruins over the next few days. Maybe Saturday night as they await the score of the Hawks-Canadiens game they might start biting their nails.

Should the Bruins maintain their hold on second place, they would have the choice of ice for the first two games. This would mean that the team finishing third would have to play in Montreal next Tuesday and Thursday nights.

There is considerable prize money hinging on this race for second place, too.

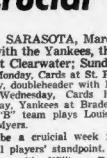
Crucial Week Ahead for Sox

By HERB FINNEGAN

SARASOTA, March 15—Now the Sox really get down to business. Starting today with the Yankees, they play 10 games in the next week, to wit: Tomorrow, Cleveland at Clearwater; Sunday, Yanks at St. Pete while the "B" team plays Kansas City here; Monday, Cards at St. Pete; Tuesday, doubleheader with Reds here; Wednesday, Cards here; Thursday, Yankees at Bradenton while "B" team plays Louisville at Ft. Myers.

It'll be a crucial week from the ball players' standpoint. Of course men like Williams, Doerr, Pesky, Di Mag, Hal Wagner, Hughson and Co. don't have to worry about their jobs, but for fellows like Al Flair, Junie Andres and others their next seven days will be all important.



Junie Andres

Andres, held down by a bum leg, and Flair, held back by sore dogs, were to get their first true test against the Yanks today, and Mack, figured to be No. 2 catcher behind Hal Wagner but handicapped by a sore index finger on his throwing hand, will get his first test Sunday in St. Pete. All have sufficiently recovered to show their best early season form.

Andres was No. 1 third base candidate when he arrived in camp. A slow starter, he has yet to impress at field or at bat. But his minor league record proves he has what it takes, and Donie Bush, who had him three years at Indiana U. and saw him three years at Louisville, has advised Joe Cronin: "Be patient with the lad. He's got it, and he'll prove it eventually."

At the moment, Eddie Pellagrini has the bulge at third, but there are veterans on the club who believe the Sox will come up with an established major league third sacker before the season opens. "We got to have a power hitter, a right-handed hitter, for those 77 games at home." There is chance they think, that Vernon Stephens of the Browns will wind up at the Sox far turn.

York is a popular figure with Sarasotans. He's cheered everytime he steps into the batter's box, and he's been hitting viciously. There is one park he should be able to hit in and that is Fenway. Ye', he hasn't had a good year of late, and some of the Sox veterans doubt he'll have one this year. So Flair, a 6-4 left-hander, makes his bid starting today. He's been in the Sox chain for years, and is determined to stick this year.

RAINDROPS . . . Sox Thursday's game was called off because of rain . . . Ted Williams and Dave Ferriss spent the afternoon in the clubhouse. Williams thinks Ferriss is all the pitcher he proved last year . . . "His fast ball's alive," said Ted, and he knows what he's doing. Ferriss, Williams and Charlie Wagner are quite "pallie" . . . The day was spent in the clubhouse talking about hitting, and Cronin agreed, as Lou Boudreau had done previously, that he could hit an inside pitch to right field better than an outside pitch . . . "This shifting of the feet is a lot of hoop-de-doo," said Cronin, and no one demurred.

Glassman Meets Pretzie Tonight

Johnny Pretzie meets Hal Glassman, young Philadelphia heavyweight, tonight in the 10-round feature on the Sharkey A. A. fight card at the Arena.

Glassman recently gave Jimmy White of New York a boxing lesson. Pretzie, however, will have Jack Sharkey in his corner and his coaching may mean the difference between a win and a setback.

Sgt. Eddie Bangs of Cambridge, just out of the service, will clash with Tom Spencer, New Waterford, N. S., in the eight-round semi-final. The second eight will pair Larry Pacino, of Roxbury, k.o. winner in his first start here, and Fernand Demers, Montreal. Jimmy Sauer, Cambridge, will clash with Frankie Wrenn, Roxbury, in a six.

In the opening fours, Joe Hebert, Lowell, will mingle with Charlie Kelley of Toronto, and Tony Reno, North End youngster, will collide with Gus Edwards of the West End.

Tommy Greb of the West End House, goes gunning for his 29th straight win in one of the four 10-round bouts on an Andy Callahan A. C. all-star boxing program at the Garden. He meets Tony Costa, Woonsocket, who, before Pearl Harbor, was the third-ranking featherweight in the U. S. and who holds wins over no less than five champions—Sal Bartolo, Phil Terranova, Jackie Callura, Pittsburgh Jack Wilson and Joe Archibald.

Other 10-rounders are: Tommy Sullivan, South Boston, vs. John Henry Eskew, Brockton; Jack "Spider" Armstrong, Boston-Toronto, vs. Jackie Harris, Malden; and Buddy Hayes, South End, vs. Midget Mayo of Philadelphia.

Johnny Cesario of the North End, who ran up 40 straight wins before bowing to a knockout punch thrown by Gus "Pell" Mell of Montreal, is out to revenge that defeat, next Friday night at the Garden, when he meets the Canadian in the 10-round feature of the Goodwin A. C.

Holovak to Aid Myers at Heights

Mike Holovak, former B. C. All-America, will aid Denny Myers, when Boston College starts its spring football practice.

It is doubtful if Holovak will be back in the fall, for he may play pro ball with Los Angeles.

Myers has had his candidates working out in gym gear on the Alumni Field track for the past few days.

With a nucleus of 18 former Eagles now back in class, the B. C. coach feels he will be able to put the Chestnut Hilltoppers back in the nation's eye this fall

Churchill Crowds Delay Joyce Weigh-In

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—Willie Joyce of Gary, Ind., weighed 139 pounds today for his 10-round bout tonight with Danny Kapilow of New York. Kapilow weighed 142¾. The weighing-in was delayed 20 minutes when Joyce was unable to reach the site because of the crowds on the street waiting for Winston Churchill, of Great Britain.
